TTC staffers receive kudos for a change

Feedback. While complaints were up in 2012, so were compliments from grateful transit riders

It was a sweltering 34 C — one of the hottest days of 2012 — when the 511 streetcar pulled into the Exhibition loop last July 4.

"We were a collection of weary souls," a passenger on the car recalled. Then the driver gave them the shock of their transit riding lives.

"(She) bought everyone on her streetcar an ice cream. ... (Her) enthusiasm was infectious. I'm glad that I met her and have this story to tell."

Nothing quite bonds Torontonians together like bashing the TTC. Last year, after doubling the hours of its customer-service centre, the transit system fielded a record number of complaints, 45,408 up from 38,811 in 2011.

But the TTC also logged a record number of compliments: 4,440 compared with 3,604 in 2011.

Ratio-wise, this means that — roughly — for every 10 grumbles about staff rudeness, delays, texting drivers, fare disputes, etc., the TTC receives one pat on the back.

Among them are tales of staff going above and beyond: To locate and return lost items — a purse, phone, laptop, cherished hat, book gifted from a dead relative, umbrella, keys — to help passengers with accessibility issues, and to bring a smile to riders' faces.

There was a pedestrian who wanted to thank a Dufferin South bus driver for slowing down near a puddle so they "didn't splash us." Numerous riders were grateful the drivers waited for them at the stop. About half just wanted to say they appreciated the staff's attitude.

"This bus driver has restored my faith in the TTC! He welcomed us all onto the bus with a big smile and a warm 'Good morning.' He then proceeded to whistle and serenade us," wrote an Ossington southbound passenger.

"As the bus got fuller and fuller, instead of grumbling and shouting for us to move back like the usual TTC employee, he announced pleasantly: 'Think thin, everyone! We have a few more friends to pick up!' Everyone laughed. As we approached the subway station he starting cheering, 'Yay! Ossington Subway!' and he cheered us all on while we exited the bus, while wishing us each a happy long weekend."

All about satisfaction

- Since taking over the embattled transit system in the fall of 2011, CEO Andy Byford has made customer satisfaction a priority. Byford has concentrated on shifting management culture, which in turn will help the staff to be customer-experience-oriented.
- This has been coupled with significant organizational changes, such as amped-up cleaning schedules, expanded customer-service hours, smarter staff deployments and ushering in debit and credit card options at collector booths.
- "The winds of change are blowing through the TTC," Byford said.

Mayor McCallion testifies in conflict of interest case

Mississauga Mayor Hazel McCallion testified Thursday that it was dark in the restaurant where she signed as a witness to a document showing her son was a shareholder in a development company.

McCallion was in Brampton Superior Court, accused of breaking conflict of interest laws in 2007 when she voted at Peel Region council on development charge issues that stood to save her son's company $11 million.

Extracurricular activities coming back to schools

Slow return.
Track-and-field to run this spring, but some teachers continue protest

Extracurricular activities are starting to resume at many public elementary schools in greater Toronto, but in some pockets teachers continue to protest.

The independent organization that runs competitive sports for the Toronto board's elementary schools says that it is running a full track-and-field schedule this spring, with 369 schools registered for 25 meets for students in Grades 2 to 8.

The Toronto District Elementary School Athletic Association has registered 341 teams for boys' soccer, 280 for girls' soccer, 73 cricket teams and 178 for ultimate frisbee.

Toronto District School Board Trustee Shelley Laskin said all of her schools will participate in track-and-field, though in schools where teachers are unwilling to run it, principals will.

"I think there are some teachers — even in secondary — who are still so upset that no matter what the (teachers') federation is saying, they are not going back to what they used to do," said Laskin, who represents St. Paul's.

At Winona Drive Senior Public School, staff have told parents they will not resume any extra activities for the remainder of the school year. But Laskin said the principal has offered to organize track-and-field, one of the board's most popular sports competitions.

"Hopefully when the elementary (union) settles, like the secondary has, there could be another change," she said. "This year has been incredibly disappointing — it feels like we are getting back on track."

Meanwhile, the Elementary Teachers' Federation of Ontario continues to negotiate, but enough progress has been made that it recently lifted an advisory to members against extracurricular activities.

Elementary teachers withdrew from voluntary activities en masse at the start of the school year in their dispute with the province, which imposed collective agreements on them. The union advised them to take a "pause" because of the loss of bargaining rights and cuts the government wanted to impose.

Teachers facing discipline

Some Toronto teachers are continuing their extra-curricular boycott because they are being disciplined for submitting report cards in the fall that only contained one comment as part of a protest against the government. The local elementary teachers' union said some principals have decided against putting disciplinary letters in the teachers' files, while others are pushing ahead with it.

Znaimer survived cancer but the battle continues

Spokesperson. Broadcaster says fighting off two forms of the disease has given her a new zest for life

PHOEBE HO
toronto@metronews.ca

Libby Znaimer spent years honing her skills as a journalist, so it was tough for her to imagine a time when she would need help processing information.

The seasoned broadcaster, who's worked for Citytv and CablePulse 24, always had a knack for digesting complex information. But all those skills went for naught during her two battles with cancer, starting with a breast-cancer diagnosis in 2006, then pancreatic cancer in 2008.

Quoted

"I feel very, very good, but I try not to take any of my time for granted 'cause I don't know how much time I ultimately will have, and I'm very grateful and happy to be here and also to be here so healthy."

Libby Znaimer

"You have to take in a lot of really, really complicated information, and often you not only have to take it in, but you have to turn it around to make life-and-death decisions about your treatment," Znaimer said. "I'm used to taking in a lot of information, but I wasn't really equipped to make those kinds of decisions."

Znaimer, who was named the national spokesperson for Pancreatic Cancer Canada, spends as much time as she can raising money and awareness for various cancer organizations. Especially for groups such as CAREpath, a cancer-assistance program, which helped her during her darkest days.

Today, Znaimer says she is feeling better than ever, citing her experience battling two cancers as having renewed her zest for life.

"I think right now, if there's anything that I want to do, or I think I want to do, I should get on with it," she said. "I feel very, very good."

Ford supports jets at island airport

Mayor Rob Ford backs Porter Airlines' desire to introduce jet service to the Toronto Island airport.

Ford said he has no objections to lengthening the runway at Billy Bishop Toronto City Airport to handle Bombardier's CSeries100 jets.

"I don't have a problem with it," Ford told reporters in a city hall scrum.

"The extension of the runway, obviously there's an agreement through three levels that we have to obviously reopen. Overall I don't see this being a bad thing, I think it's a good thing." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

An Open Letter to Canadians

RBC has been in the news this week in a way no company ever wants to be.

The recent debate about an outsourcing arrangement for some technology services has raised important questions.

While we are compliant with the regulations, the debate has been about something else. The question for many people is not about doing only what the rules require - it's about doing what employees, clients, shareholders and Canadians expect of RBC. And that's something we take very much to heart.

Despite our best efforts, we don't always meet everyone's expectations, and when we get it wrong you are quick to tell us. You have my assurance that I'm listening and we are making the following commitments.

First, I want to apologize to the employees affected by this outsourcing arrangement as we should have been more sensitive and helpful to them. All will be offered comparable job opportunities within the bank.

Second, we are reviewing our supplier arrangements and policies with a continued focus on Canadian jobs and prosperity, balancing our desire to be both a successful business and a leading corporate citizen.

Third, our Canadian client call centres are located in Canada and support our domestic and our U.S. business, and they will remain in Canada.

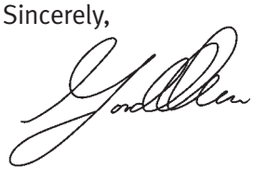
Fourth, we are preparing a new initiative aimed at helping young people gain an important first work experience in our company, which we will announce in the weeks ahead.

RBC proudly employs over 57,000 people in Canada. Over the last four years, despite a challenging global economy, we added almost 3,000 full-time jobs in Canada. We also hire over 2,000 youth in Canada each year and we support thousands more jobs through the purchases we make from Canadian suppliers. As we continue to grow, so will the number of jobs for Canadians.

RBC opened for business in 1864 and we have worked hard since then to earn the confidence and support of the community. Today, we remain every bit as committed to earning the right to be our clients' first choice, providing rewarding careers for our employees, delivering returns to shareholders who invest with us, and supporting the communities in which we are privileged to operate.

I'd like to close by thanking our employees, clients, shareholders and community partners for your input and continued support.

Sincerely,



Gord Nixon

'HATEBASE' AIMS TO PREVENT GENOCIDE BY TRACKING HATE SPEECH

JESSICA SMITH
jessica.smith@metronews.ca

A Toronto-based non-governmental organization is tracking the use of hate speech around the world, hoping to help stop genocide before it starts.

The Sentinel Project recently launched Hatebase, a wiki-style website that asks the public to contribute to a multilingual dictionary of hateful words and log incidents in which those words are used.

The Hatebase API allows users — potentially governments and other NGOs — to map out and chart localized spikes and trends in hate speech in real time.

Spikes in hate speech, when combined with other knowledge about tensions in a region, can be an early warning sign of violence, or of violence escalating to genocide, said Timothy Quinn, an adviser with The Sentinel Project.

"When we start layering in hate speech, that gives us an indication — when it's spiking over time — that tensions are rising," he said.

For example, in Rwanda in the '90s "inyenzi," meaning "cockroach," was a derogatory term for the Tutsi that escalated in use before the genocide, with radio announcers ultimately calling on people to exterminate the cockroach.

While the Sentinel Project focuses on preventing genocide, the upsurge in hateful language can also indicate other violence that doesn't necessarily amount to genocide.

What's in a word?

"Hate speech is really defined more by the intent than the word itself."

Timothy Quinn, The Sentinel Project

"God knows, there's a lot that can happen before then that certainly warrants monitoring and intervention," said Quinn.

Defining hate speech, however, isn't easy.

"Hate speech is really defined more by the intent than the word itself," said Quinn. "There are some words that might have a benign meaning in some contexts, but in other contexts have a very malignant intent."

For example, without a deeper knowledge of the region, the use of "cockroach" in Rwanda in the '90s could be attributed to a cockroach infestation, instead of a brewing genocide.

The Hatebase dictionary is growing as more people with important knowledge about the world are beginning to use it, said Quinn.

"The spread of our users is global," he said. "We're starting to get a lot of very localized slurs, which we didn't have before."

Resolving issues with user-generated content

Relying on user-generated content isn't without its problems, said Timothy Quinn, an adviser with The Sentinel Project. Hatebase has attracted some people with political agendas who have started arguing over words and definitions that likely have very little value for organizations concerned about genocide. "I've had a couple of Nazis that are pissed off at me. I've got a group of anti-feminists that are pissed off that we removed a word we didn't think was hate speech," said Quinn.

For example, some recent additions to the Hatebase wiki, like "patriarchy," "cis male" and "white privilege," are found in academic language commonly used in womens' studies. If those words were a sign of genocide, university campuses would be very scary places.

Fortunately, Hatebase can distinguish what inputs are relevant and doesn't bother with anything that doesn't relate to an area of concern, Quinn said. "Some of it is meaningful and some of it is not. Funnily enough, the stuff of dubious value is the stuff people fight about the most," he said.

FIVE-YEAR CORPORATE PLAN SETS STAGE FOR TTC TRANSFORMATION

ANDY BYFORD
CEO
TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

One of the most interesting aspects of my job is in managing the incredible diversity and complexity of the components that make up the Toronto Transit Commission.

The TTC is more complex than most transit systems around the world, operating five different modes including bus, streetcar, subway, the Scarborough RT and Wheel-Trans. Behind the scenes, a comprehensive infrastructure exists to deliver service to 1.7 million daily riders on what is North America's third-largest transit network.

From our 24/7 Transit Control facility to the vehicle workshops through to our carhouses, project offices, infrastructure depots and operating bases, 12,500 employees deliver service around the clock within the constraints of a very tight operating budget and rising customer expectations.

I spend a lot of time visiting these facilities, as I truly appreciate what our employees achieve with limited means, but also so I can discuss areas for improvement with them. This spring, senior managers and I will hold briefings with groups of staff in every department to present our soon-to-be-released Corporate Plan. We will seek their feedback and buy-in to the transformation plan that I and my executive have committed to delivering in our efforts to modernize and improve the TTC.

The plan will be posted to the TTC website so all of our customers can see what is planned over the next five years.

• I was delighted to accept an Energy Leadership Award from Toronto Hydro on behalf of the TTC this week. Our staff worked hard to save 758 kWh of energy, equivalent to 2,387 trees and a lot of valuable tax dollars.

Jolie and the G8 supporting the 'forgotten victims' of war

Angelina Jolie brought her celebrity wattage to London on Thursday to back an urgent cause: fighting sexual violence in military conflicts. The Hollywood star joined British Foreign Secretary William Hague in announcing $36 million in additional funding from G8 nations to go toward preventing sexual violence and ensuring justice for its survivors. For too long, Jolie said, survivors of sexual violence have been "the forgotten victims" of wars in the Middle East, Africa and elsewhere. "Today, I believe that their voices have been heard," she said, alongside Hague, U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry and others at a meeting of foreign ministers from G8 nations. Baird not sorry for meeting on disputed land

Jerusalem. Palestinian Liberation Organization fears minister has set a 'dangerous precedent'

Foreign Affairs Minister John Baird says he did not cross a line by holding a meeting with Israel's justice minister in her East Jerusalem office.

Baird met Tuesday with Tzipi Livni across the Green Line in disputed territory, which the Palestinians and the UN consider occupied land.

Baird says where he has coffee with someone is "irrelevant" to the larger discussion of Middle East peace and does not signal a shift in Canadian foreign policy.

"We're focused on trying to have an impact on the difficult and serious challenges, that being security for Israelis, an end to the conflict and the legitimate aspirations for a state from those in the Palestinian side," he said during a news conference in London, following a meeting of G8 foreign ministers.

Previous Canadian government ministers have avoided crossing into East Jerusalem with Israeli officials as a matter of principle and practice.

NDP foreign affairs critic Paul Dewar described the meeting as a misstep that betrayed "a serious lack of understanding about the conflict" in the Middle East.

Syria. Rebels say regime slaughtered civilians

Syrian government forces launched a counteroffensive in the south, capturing a town and killing at least 45 people, including women and children, opposition activists said Thursday.

The Britain-based Syrian Observatory for Human Rights activist group reported that they were killed by "shooting, shelling and field execution," a reference to people reported to have been shot at close range.

The attack on the town of Sanamein followed a rebel advance in the area in recent weeks. Rebels captured army bases and a major town in the strategic province of Daraa along the border with Jordan.

"They slaughtered any person they found," an activist in the nearby town of Busra al-Harir told The Associated Press via Skype. He would not give his name for fear of reprisal.

"This is the ugliest massacre since the one in Houla," he added, referring to a region where government forces killed more than 100 civilians in May.

Rebels advancing in the south in recent weeks have been aiming to secure a corridor from the Jordanian border to Damascus about 60 miles away in preparation for an assault on the capital.

Vigil remembers Rehtaeh Parsons

Halifax. N.S. premier says he hopes measures aimed at improving mental health services, policing and education will be rolled out soon

Several hundred people attend a community vigil to remember Rehtaeh Parsons at Victoria Park in Halifax on Thursday. Family say she ended her life following months of bullying after an alleged sexual assault. ANDREW VAUGHAN/THE CANADIAN PRESS

People filled a park in Halifax on Thursday night to remember Rehtaeh Parsons, holding candles and burning incense as native drummers played a drum song dedicated to the 17-year-old girl.

Many held photocopied pictures of Rehtaeh on a sunny evening as dusk fell. A native elder read a prayer: "We pray for an end to violence against young women and girls."

A number of politicians attended the vigil, including Premier Darrell Dexter and Halifax Mayor Mike Savage.

The girl's family says Rehtaeh hanged herself last week and was later taken off life-support following months of bullying after she was sexually assaulted by four boys and a photo of the alleged incident was distributed.

Rehtaeh's cousin Angella Parsons appealed for a reasoned response to Rehtaeh's death. "My family asks people not to respond with violence and aggression to this terrible tragedy," she told the crowd through tears. "We are coming together in memory of Rehtaeh.... To celebrate her life."

The RCMP have said they are aware of reports that some are suggesting harm against people involved in the investigation.

Earlier Thursday, Dexter told the legislature he wanted a timely response to satisfy the public's concerns about Rehtaeh's case.

"I will do everything in my power to create a community that is better equipped to prevent these situations, rather than a community that struggles to find a way to deal with them," Dexter said.

Beyond bullying

PM responds

Prime Minister Stephen Harper says it's time to stop using the word bullying to describe what's alleged to have happened to Rehtaeh.

He says what has been described in this case is criminal. "It is youth criminal activity. It is violent criminal activity. It is sexual criminal activity and it is often Internet criminal activity."

He told reporters he was shocked and saddened by the death, especially since he and his wife Laureen are parents of a teenage girl themselves.

Harper says the federal government will do what it can to encourage anti-bullying strategies and he is encouraged by the actions being taken by the province.

Cyberbullying. Action, dialogue critical: Experts

With digital technology and social media increasingly used by bullies to taunt their targets, it's never been easier for harmful messages and images aimed at tormenting victims to be spread to the masses.

While some youth may be unsure of how to stop the chain of cyberbullying, experts say that simply remaining idle is not the answer.

"If a child receives a photo circulated through social media there are many things that he or she can do. Perhaps the most important thing is to let someone know and not be part of the problem, but part of the solution," said Debra Pepler, scientific co-director of PREVNet, a national authority on research and resources for bullying prevention.

"Being part of the problem is sending that on to other people, writing derisive comments about it; in some way joining the bullying rather than indicating dissatisfaction and displeasure with it."

PREVNet (Promoting Relationships and Eliminating Violence Network) has several tips on its website geared towards teens on how to deal with cyberbullying.

Among them: talk to a trusted adult; "pause and think" before sending messages; don't ignore instincts when seeing or receiving messages which seem aggressive or over the line; and let the sender of an offending message know you're not OK with cyberbullying. Teens are also advised to make a copy of the message before deleting it.

U.S. Senate rejects effort to block gun-control bill

68-31. 50 Democrats, 16 Republicans and 2 independents opposed; 29 Republicans, 2 Democrats supported

Gun-control supporters in the U.S. Senate won the first showdown over how to respond to the December school shootings in Connecticut, defeating an effort by conservatives to derail firearms restrictions before debate could even start.

The 68-31 vote on Thursday gave an early burst of momentum to efforts by President Barack Obama and lawmakers to push fresh but modest gun curbs through Congress. The National Rifle Association, the top gun advocacy group, along with many Republicans and some moderate Democrats, say the proposals go too far.

The road to congressional approval of major restrictions remains difficult, particularly in the Republican-led House of Representatives, where there is strong opposition.

The vote came four months after a gunman killed 20 young children and six staffers at a Connecticut school.

Expanded background checks of gun purchasers are at the core of the latest Democrat-led gun-control drive. Other top proposals — including bans on assault weapons and high-capacity ammunition magazines — will be offered as amendments during Senate debate but seem destined for defeat.

Background checks currently apply only to transactions handled by the country's 55,000 licensed gun dealers. Advocates of expanding the system say too many sales — the exact proportion is unknown — escape the checks, which are supposed to keep weapons from going to criminals, the seriously mentally ill and others.

"The hard work starts now," Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid, a Democrat, said after the vote. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.S. immigration bill moving, thanks to farmers

Agriculture growers have signed off on the major elements of a new program to bring farm workers to the U.S., a key senator said Thursday, moving a major immigration bill a step closer to passage.

Sen. Dianne Feinstein, a Democrat, said the growers have agreed on wages and numbers of visas in the new program, which would allow tens of thousands of farm workers into the country. Those were the big sticking points between the industry and the United Farm Workers.

Expats. Canucks in S. Korea unfazed by nuclear threats

North Korea's latest threat of a missile attack against its southern neighbour is not rattling Canadians living and working in South Korea, who say Pyongyang's war talk is nothing new.

Andrei Cherwinski, 29, an English teacher on his third contract in South Korea, said nobody is taking the threat seriously. "Everybody's still going to work, everybody's still going out on the town, nobody is concerned," said Cherwinski, who is from Ottawa but now calls Seoul home.

Tensions in the Korean Peninsula continued to rise on Thursday as North Korea hinted at a missile launch, claiming it had "powerful striking means" on standby.

"I kind of follow the people around me, how everybody acts. I don't see people getting upset," said Andrew Sachs, 28, who is from Haliburton, Ont.

New report

Spending on drugs grows at slowest rate in 16 years

A new report suggests spending on prescription drugs in Canada continues to grow, but at the slowest rate in 16 years.

The slowed growth is said to be because patents expired for several drugs, which meant people could buy cheaper generic versions. The report says Canadians spent $33 billion on drugs in 2012, or an average of $947 per person. The report, from the Canadian Institute for Health Information, says drugs continue to make up the second-largest share of health spending, after hospitals, ahead of the cost of doctors' salaries.

Supreme Court won't hear Alberta oilsands appeal

Mine expansion. 'We will not find access to justice within Alberta': First Nations chief

The Supreme Court of Canada has refused to hear the Athabasca Chipewyan First Nation's bid to block a ruling on Shell's Jackpine oilsands mine expansion in northern Alberta.

The First Nation wanted a regulatory board to rule on whether the band had been adequately consulted before the board decided whether the Shell project could get the greenlight as planned.

The board said governments should determine how much consultation is adequate. The Alberta Court of Appeal agreed and the high court has refused to hear an appeal of that decision.

"We are truly disappointed with this decision as we have diligently proceeded through legal avenues to have our rights upheld," Athabasca Chipewyan Chief Allan Adam said in a statement.

"We understand that this joint review panel was supposed to uphold everyone's constitutional rights. Why has there been an exception with regards to First Nations' consultation rights? Government must be held accountable to their treaty obligations."

Tory crime agenda

The Supreme Court has agreed to hear a pair of cases involving elements of the Harper government's "tough-on-crime" agenda.

- The first involves three prisoners sentenced before the passage of a 2011 law that toughened parole conditions, who argue they should have been treated under the old law
- The second deals with a lower-court judge who credited an offender with 1.5 days for each day in detention before sentencing.

Abandon ships. Harper urged to scrap plans for Arctic patrol vessels

A new report by two independent think-tanks recommends the Harper government abandon its pet project to construct Arctic patrol ships for the navy.

The Centre for Policy Alternatives and the Rideau Institute say the $4.3-billion plan has been watered down to the point where it no longer makes much sense, and the country would be better served building high-speed navy cutters and civilian icebreakers.

The Conservatives promised the arctic warships during the 2006 election campaign, saying once in government they would build three heavily armed icebreakers to enforce Canadian sovereignty in the North.

In 2007, the plan changed to up to eight light "ice capable" ships, including a major refuelling station in Nanisivik, Nunavut.

The report concludes the ships, as currently configured, will be too slow, too unstable and too lightly armed.

RBC apologizes for outsourcing mess

Mea culpa. Bank will publish open letter in response to furor over treatment of IT workers

Royal Bank's top executive apologized Thursday to the workers who are being affected by the bank's outsourcing arrangement with a foreign company, saying RBC should have been more sensitive and helpful to them.

The apology follows a backlash against the bank after some of its Canadian information technology workers complained they were being replaced by foreign workers working for a company contracted by RBC.

Chief executive Gord Nixon said in an open letter, to be published in Friday newspapers, that the bank is also reviewing its supplier arrangements and policies to balance its desire to be a successful business and a "leading corporate citizen."

He repeated assurances that all of the affected workers — about 45 people — will be offered comparable job opportunities at the bank, which is Canada's largest bank by assets.

"RBC has been in the news this week in a way no company ever wants to be," Nixon said in a letter distributed Thursday afternoon.

"While we are compliant with the regulations, the debate has been about something else. The question for many people is not about doing only what the rules require — it's about doing what employees, clients, shareholders and Canadians expect of RBC. And that's something we take very much to heart."

He also committed to a review of the bank's supplier agreements and to keep its call centres that support the bank's domestic and U.S. business in Canada.

In earlier statements and an interview that Nixon gave to CBC, the bank had said it expected and believed that its outsourcing supplier had complied with all relevant Canadian rules.

Austria. Police arrest man in Red Bull blackmail case

Austrian police have arrested a man suspected of blackmailing Red Bull by threatening to place cans of its energy drink contaminated with feces on supermarket shelves.

Police officials cited at a Salzburg news conference by the Austria Press Agency say the unidentified 47-year-old suspect was arrested Wednesday after he showed up for a payoff in the Lower Austrian town of Moedling.

Thursday's report didn't say how much the suspected blackmailer was demanding, or give other details.

An official answering the telephone at Salzburg police headquarters confirmed the arrest. The threats started coming in February by mail and email. Spot checks of stores across Austria showed no trace of tampering with the company's product.

11 Louisville tattoo. With Louisville rallying behind guard Kevin Ware, who had suffered that horrific leg injury earlier in the tourney, this team of destiny defeated Michigan Monday night in a fantastic NCAA championship final 82-76. And now their coach Rick Pitino has to get a tattoo, which he promised the team he would if they won. I suggest "WARE LOUISVILLE."

12 Dragons' Den. In a special season finale April 14 on CBC, viewers get to go outside the den and right into the private lives of the famous dragons. We get to see how they multi-task their business empires with their jam-packed red carpet schedules and personal lives. I expect to see some semblance of Kevin O'Leary's soft side. Or not.

Darwin's back

Species is evolutionary snapshot in action

This image provided by Lee R. Berger and the University of the Witwatersrand shows a reconstruction of the skeleton of Australopithecus sediba, centre, next to a small-bodied modern human female, left, and a male chimpanzee.

The newly-studied species lived some two million years ago, and it both climbed in trees and walked upright. Scientists are getting a more comprehensive look at the extinct South African creature with an intriguing mix of human-like and primitive traits, but scientists say they still haven't pinned down where it fits on our evolutionary family tree. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Put your best foot forward

- When people walk, they strike the ground with the heel first. But that would be disastrous for A. sediba's narrow heel bone, so, instead, the creature struck the ground first with the outside of the foot, the authors propose.

Quoted

"I didn't think you could have this combination, that hand with that pelvis with that foot ... yet, there it is." Jeremy DeSilva of Boston University

RE: Earth to PMO: We're Doomed, published April 4

I wanted to tell you that I really enjoy reading your paper in Calgary.

In the April 4 edition of Metro news Calgary the article, Earth to PMO: We're doomed by John Mazerolle, was so funny I laughed myself silly.

When I got home, I shared the article with my husband and he laughed so hard, too.

I have no doubt the script from the real PMO's office would read much the same, almost word for word, if a meteor were on its way.

Thanks for a thoughtful and hilarious article.

Allergies are a modern epidemic

■ I tried numerous other remedies all my life that were not effective. Since I discovered #31 I do not have a stuffy nose and itchy eyes when pollen season comes around. I don't have to walk around like a doped zombie anymore. Leonard Waldner, 44, Delia, AB ■ For 20 years my life was miserable with sneezing, watery eyes and sinus pressure year-round on most days. I was amazed. On 3rd day all allergies were gone. It was like magic. Becky Gerber, 25, Dover, OH ■ Golfing without allergy attacks I tried all the medications and none worked. After taking 1 capsule in the morning I'm completely free of all symptoms. Richard Gamez, 74, San Antonio, TX ■ God bless you I went from doctor to doctor for years with allergy sinus problems. The medications made me still sicker. After starting Bell Allergy Relief one capsule at night I felt like born again the next morning. Therese Noto, 58, New York, NY.

After 2 months my new test came back with a 76% kidney function increase. Thank you for a product that actually works. Hyacinth Twin, 73, Miami, FL ■ For the last 4 years my doctor told me that my kidneys did not function properly. After using the Bell Kidney Tea for 9 weeks my GFR Filtration Rate went from 29 to 43. I couldn't be more delighted. I intend to drink the tea until I reach my goal of a GFR of 60. This product really works. Aaron H. Goldman, 86, Bronx, NY ■ The Mount Sinai School of Medicine Newsletter May 2010 states that normal kidney function cannot be restored with medicine. The main goal of treatment is to slow the progression of the disease by eating more fresh fruit and vegetables. This is the advice 40 million Americans with abnormal kidney function get (in Canada about 4 million could benefit greatly from this kidney tea). ■ The president of Bell Lifestyle is using the tea himself with a kidney function increase from 45% to 61% in 2 months and guarantees that the tea works or he refunds your money.

Calming Chronic Stress

#66 - NPN License

Autism, Anxiety disorders, Work Stress

We have tried every autism therapy, ABA therapy and change of diet. It's exactly one year since we began using Bell Calming Chronic Stress #66 for our two sons. Our local health food store recommended it. Both of our boys have autism and anxiety disorders that accompany it. Our older son (14) was going through puberty and had become quite unmanageable, because he is much larger than I am. We are delighted with the immediate results from #66. Our older son became his former sweet self and our younger son's (12) anxiety is dramatically reduced. Thank you so much. Donna Van Veen, 48, Grand Prairie, AB. ■ I have a very high stress career in the film industry. There was no time for relaxation or meditation as you are on demand for 12-15 hours a day with no breaks. Since using Bell Calming Chronic Stress #66 I am able to focus on the tasks at hand with more patience. Thank you for your help! Christina Ollson, 36, Burnaby, BC ■ I am calm now in stressful situations! In the last 10 years I had a very short fuse because my job is quite unpredictable. After I started Bell Calming Chronic Stress #66 the difference was amazing. My reactions to stressful situations are totally changed. I have more energy, too. I don't yell at other drivers on the road. I have much more patience and I am much happier. Thank you! Mary-Anne Thompson, 61, Lasalle, ON ■ I suffered greatly from anxiety and was diagnosed with autism. Drugs do not make me feel very good. So my mother bought Bell Calming Chronic Stress #66 and it has been helping me a lot. I am on my 3rd bottle.

Synopsis

42 covers roughly two years in Jackie Robinson's (Chadwick Boseman) life, the period in which he went from unknown minor league player to the man who broke the colour barrier in professional baseball. In 1947 there were 400 players in Major League Baseball, 399 white team members and Robinson. Recruited by Branch Rickey (Harrison Ford), owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers, the first baseman withstood racism from teammates, fans and opposing players to become an icon of the game and civil rights movement.

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Field of equal dreams

42. The realities of 1940s racism aren't toned down in this Jackie Robinson biopic

Richard: Mark, I liked this movie. It's an old-fashioned Hollywood biopic, and I think as that it works well, but I can't start any conversation about the movie without mentioning Harrison Ford's performance. He's the gruff old coot Branch Rickey and Harrison brings him to life with cigar and eyebrow acting, hurumphing his way through the role in an entertaining, but decidedly hammy fashion. What did you make of his performance?

Mark: Richard, there is no movie WITHOUT Harrison Ford. Everyone else is pretty one dimensional, good or evil, including Robinson himself. But Ford brings a little craziness to a very sober biopic. Rickey's a hard guy to figure out, which is good. Is he just a savvy businessman, as he claims? A closet idealist? An egomaniac looking to claim a place in the history books? Ford always keeps us guessing, which is more than the rest of the movie does. I liked the movie, but really, when the bad guys are redneck racists in the 1940s it's like shooting catfish in a barrel.

RC: I liked Ford too but you take those eyebrows away and there's not a whole lot left to that character. 42 is a melodramatic Hollywood biopic with one big moment after the next buoyed by a swelling soundtrack and loads of stock characters, but writer/director Brian Helgeland doesn't shy away from the harder edged aspects of the story. He tackles the racism Robinson was greeted with head on and it is often uncomfortable to watch.

MB: All too true, and you just can't believe that kind of overt racism occurred only 70 years ago. But, oh, that soundtrack! Stop telling me how to feel; I feel it already! By the way, I thought Chris Meloni played an interesting character, a flawed human being with a good essence. I wish he had been in the movie more. And the film had a nice sense of time and place. But although Robinson himself is a hero, he's forced by history to be a bit of a bore, which is not good for the movie.

RC: I thought Chadwick Boseman showed some of the tenacity, talent and strength of character that made Robinson a legend.

MB: He was excellent at conveying Robinson's noble purpose. But you know what they say about the Bible: it's the Devil that has the best part!

You won't regret this in the morning

Will Cruise's star fade into Oblivion?

Sparkle and shine. The last few years have shown even Tommy is fallible at the box office — so how will audiences receive his latest adventure?

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

A year ago, Tom Cruise was riding a wave of good press with a comeback narrative in full swing. His franchise return Mission: Impossible Ghost Protocol had reassured Hollywood that audiences still had an appetite for the star after something of a dry patch, eventually bringing in nearly $700 million worldwide at the box office. And on top of that, he had two high-profile and buzzed-about roles ahead for 2012 — the hair metal musical Rock of Ages and the tough-guy crime thriller Jack Reacher.

But then Rock of Ages was met with withering reviews and disappointing box office numbers, and Jack Reacher underperformed, with neither film opening at No. 1 at the box office. Now, with Cruise's Oblivion set to launch — following an ad campaign relying heavily on the star's bankability — Hollywood finds itself asking the same questions it did before the release of Ghost Protocol: Can Tom Cruise open a movie?

The last few years have suggested that the age of the movie star may be over, that audiences are no longer swayed merely by the presence of a big name on the poster. In fact, until recently it seemed the only two stars left who could be counted on to open a movie — regardless of its content — were Will Smith and Adam Sandler. Smith's Men in Black 3 was indeed a blockbuster last year, but it was his first starring role in four years. And the generally review-proof Sandler's last two live-action outings, Jack and Jill and That's My Boy, were complete bombs. (It should be noted that Hotel Transylvania, which featured Sandler's voice, was a hit.)

Tom Cruise's film Oblivion opens in theatres next Friday. GETTY IMAGES

And so far, 2013 hasn't been very good to traditional movie stars, with major box office flops for Expendables stars Arnold Schwarzenegger, Sylvester Stallone and Jason Statham. Bruce Willis' A Good Day to Die Hard fared a bit better, at least opening at No. 1, but in eight weeks of release it's still a long ways off from recouping its $92 million budget. Even Brad Pitt, who is hoping June's World War Z will do well enough to launch a franchise, took a bath on last November's Killing Them Softly, which he both starred in and produced.

So if Oblivion doesn't do well, does that mean the Tom Cruise brand is officially in trouble? Not likely. As Ghost Protocol proved, the star has an uncanny ability to bounce back from both critical failures and tabloid talk. And with the more recent Oblivion trailers making the film look more interesting and enticing, maybe Cruise's latest go at saving the world will also save his career. Again.

On the lam with Redford

The Company You Keep. Actor talks Weather Underground and gets philosophical about searching for the truth in journalism

MATT PRIGGE
Metro World News in New York

The Company You Keep, the ninth film Robert Redford has directed — and only the third he has starred in as well — concerns former members of the Weather Underground, the militant, and sometimes violent, anti-Vietnam War organization. A longtime Hollywood liberal, Redford has spoken of the film's political nature elsewhere. But today he discusses its other aspects.

"If you had to break it down in terms of which (theme) is more important, the one for my character is obvious: the love of his daughter," he explains.

When the Feds start rounding up ex-members responsible for a violent bank robbery, Redford's character, who's innocent of those charges, goes on the lam to clear his name.

"What happens when you're passionate and totally committed to something in your youth, and then that evaporates? You grow out of that position and you're still stuck because of the trap you created for yourself when you were young. What is the cost of that? (The film is) not about that event that took place in 1970. That's the kick-off. It's about their lives right now."

When journalists talk to Redford, inevitably All the President's Men, the 1976 film about the revelation of Watergate, comes up.

"That was not about Watergate. That was not about President Nixon," he maintains. "It was about those two guys and the work that they did. I wanted to put a light on something I didn't think many people knew about, which is: how do journalists work? How do they get a story?"

The film's portrait of journalism doesn't quite mesh with today. "(Journalism has) changed so drastically, because of the democratization of information. Anyone can put something up. So now it's harder and harder to find what the truth is," he says, pointing out that there's less regulation of the press now. "The rules that governed journalism when I was younger said you had to get two people to go on record before you could quote a source. That's gone. What took it away was the need to compete. You had to scoop. Sometimes you couldn't wait around to do the ethical thing. You had to jump to get ahead of the next guy. It makes Watergate look like a piece of history. It can't come back."

Robert Redford is a man trying to clear his name in The Company You Keep. HANDOUT

The Place Beyond the Pines

Director. Derek Cianfrance

Stars. Ryan Gosling, Bradley Cooper, Eva Mendes

Cianfrance's backwoods grand opera traces a tragic event as it ripples over nearly 20 years. Gosling is extraordinary as a disturbed jittery drifter/bank robber who can charm a crying baby. Cooper appears an hour in for one brief, violent exchange with Gosling and the story becomes his. This 140-minute moral cat-and-mouse game is smart and intriguing, with a unique structure, a restrained, effective script and masterful direction, and top notch performances at every level. ANNE BRODIE

Director Danny Boyle's film about an amnesiac (James McAvoy) who sees a hypnotherapist (Rosario Dawson) to uncover his memories of a valuable, stolen painting brings together film noir, psychological drama and thrills in one twisty-turny story. This is stylish, disorienting filmmaking that disguises what's real and what isn't. Occasionally, however, it feels as though there are too many bends in the story. No spoilers here — but the old saying, "Buy the ticket, take the ride," applies. RICHARD CROUSE

Paris-Manhattan

Director. Sophie Lellouche

Stars. Alice Taglioni, Patrick Bruel

To say that Alice is a Woody Allen fan would be a gross understatement. She poses her life's biggest questions to a gigantic Allen poster on her wall — and he answers back. Alice has a profound imaginary relationship with the director, but she struggles to connect in real life. Enter her overly concerned family members and all of their single friends. Though all are quirky and charming on the surface, there are too many players in this 77-minute film, resulting in diluted characters and storylines that aren't fully played out. REGAN REID

This biopic focuses on famous Impressionist painter Pierre-Auguste Renoir and his legendary filmmaker son Jean Renoir during the height of the First World War. LOSE UP TO 20 POUNDS IN 28 DAYS!

The Fast Metabolism Diet: Eat More Food and Lose More Weight by Haylie Pomroy

On this plan you're going to eat a lot: three full meals and two snacks a day. You won't count calories or fat, or ban entire food groups, but you'll set your metabolism on fire with this simple and proven plan.

"This is not a fad diet. It's a medically proven method of food as medicine to fight obesity, cure chronic illness, and heal a broken metabolism."
Dr. Jacqueline Fields M.D.

10 years later, surprise stars will Give Up again

Interview. Jimmy Tamborello, formerly of Postal Service, will reunite with Ben Gibbard for an anniversary tour of their smash hit album

A decade ago, Death Cab for Cutie's Ben Gibbard and electronic producer Jimmy Tamborello teamed as the Postal Service and ascended to unlikely heights with their lone album Give Up.

Give Up is being reissued with a deluxe 10th anniversary edition Tuesday, the same day the pair launches a reunion tour that will wind through Toronto's Air Canada Centre on June 11 and Vancouver's Rogers Arena on July 16.

The soft-spoken Tamborello, best-known for recording solo under the Dntel moniker, recently spoke about the initial collaboration, seeing its progression and why Give Up connected.

Originally, this partnership between you and Ben came about pretty organically, didn't it?
Yeah, definitely. There was never like a deadline or anything unfun about the process. It was all real relaxed. Getting to know somebody while making a poppy record.

What did you like about working with Ben?
The fact that we were doing it through the mail made it different than most collaborations, because we just weren't around each other.

And we didn't know each other super well when we started, so maybe in the beginning it was a little bit more reserved.

Like, I didn't want to say: "Oh, I don't like that." And I think he was the same way. (But) I think we liked what each other was doing.

Did you suspect early on that it would be such a phenomenon? If not, when did you start to think that way?
No, I think both of us didn't really know how people would take it. It's totally surprising how many people got into it.

First thing, we did a tour in the U.S. right when the album came out, and in the beginning of the tour, the shows were pretty small. And as we travelled, the shows ahead of us kept getting moved to bigger venues and most of the shows were selling out.

Why do you think Give Up connected to the extent that it did?
I feel like I try to answer that one a lot and I never have a really good answer for it. I think it has this intimate quality just because of the way we made it and the fact that it was made in our bedrooms and mixed by us. The fact that it's such a small production makes the melancholy emotional part of it seem more real or genuine. But also, just kind of accidentally, the music came out poppier than I think we even meant it to. So I think that helped too. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Europe's Beauty Secret

ch-OSA ORIGINAL FORMULA
Clinically Proven!

Fewer lines and wrinkles, thicker hair, stronger nails and denser bones.

Collagen is the key. Molecular biologists have pinpointed the key structural protein for creating smooth skin, thick strong hair, and strong nails. It's your body's beauty protein, collagen. During youth, you have a rich abundance of collagen. In addition, the collagen forms itself in a resilient "tight mesh" matrix. This "ideal" collagen condition prevents wrinkles from forming, gives skin elasticity, helps create thick, beautiful hair and strong nails. But over the years, collagen diminishes.

Starting at age 21, collagen diminishes by 1% per year. By age 30, signs of reduced collagen on skin, hair and nails become visible, not to mention the increase risk of fracture for bones.

Say the words "healthy bones," and the first word that probably pops up is calcium, but did you know that bones are made up of 30% collagen? Collagen provides strength and flexibility to bones. When collagen diminishes – your risk of fracture increases!

Now, genuine collagen regeneration is possible with clinically proven BioSil™. BioSil, a patented choline-stabilized orthosilicic acid (ch-OSA®) complex, helps your body to generate its own collagen to provide support for denser and more flexible bones as well as beautiful skin, hair and nails. BioSil has been tested in rigorous double-blind placebo controlled trials for both efficacy and safety.

Regenerate Collagen with BioSil, the only clinically proven product with ch-OSA – the most absorbable form of silicon.

Fuller, thicker hair... One supplement I have discovered recently and fell in love with is Biosil. I can safely say that this stuff made a huge difference in my hair…Whatever grew was fuller, thicker…I noticed a dramatic improvement in not only the quality of the new hair growth but the rate at which it was growing… Beauty Blogger Ellie S.

You may not have heard of any of these bands yet, but if they keep up work like this, you will

Escape/ Nightmare Air

The buzz on these people was deafening and it's only going to get louder now that their debut record, High in the Lasers, is out. Long live noise rock!

Paper Girl/ July Talk

People who saw this young Canadian band at Canadian Music Week are still raving about them. Tom Waits would be extremely proud.

Blue Collar Jane/The Strypes

The average age of this Irish band is 15-years-old. You will be hearing more about them this year, especially since they have the official Dave Grohl seal of approval.

New song. Rapper pens Open Letter after his recent trip to communist country comes under fire

Jay-Z is defending his recent trip to Cuba in a new song.

He released Open Letter Thursday after two Florida Republican lawmakers questioned if his visit to Havana with wife Beyoncé was officially licensed.

On the song, Jay-Z raps about his distaste for politicians and says, "Want to give me jail time and a fine, let me commit a real crime."

U.S. Treasury officials said Tuesday the couple's trip was licensed as an educational exchange.

Jay-Z and Beyoncé are avid supporters of President Barack Obama. Jay-Z raps in his song, "Obama said, 'Chill, you gon' get me impeached, you don't need this (expletive) anyway, chill with me on the beach.'"

U.S. citizens are not allowed to travel to Cuba for mere tourism.

Come on! Top 5 recurring jokes on Arrested Development

TV. Fan sites dedicated to Arrested Development have catalogued dozens of beloved recurring jokes, so coming up with a short list isn't easy. But here are five of the most memorable jokes that have popped up repeatedly and may re-emerge for season four, on Netflix starting May 26.

"Come on!"

It's mostly Gob's catchphrase but several characters have enthusiastically barked out the famous one-liner throughout the series in a pique of frustration.

"I've made a huge mistake"

Another line that's repeatedly uttered by Gob but is borrowed by other characters. The recurring gag is made funnier when Gob says to Michael in an episode, "I've never admitted to a mistake."

Chicken taunts

It's a family tradition to taunt and mock a fellow Bluth by clucking and dancing like a chicken in their face. Nearly everyone in the family has been seen doing it, with their own personal style, although none do it very well. "Has anyone in this family even seen a chicken?" says Michael Bluth, played by Jason Bateman, in one episode.

Never nude

Seasons one and two are littered with references to the affliction suffered by Tobias Funke, played by David Cross, who can't bring himself to be naked.

Next time/Previously on Arrested Development

Some of the funniest quick laughs come during the "Previously on" and "Next time on" segments that bookend episodes — and are typically filled with non sequiturs that completely stray from the show's real storylines.

More than one familiar Voice from the past

Television. While there are plenty of new faces on the NBC singing show, there are a few familiar ones as well

MARY ANN GEORGANTOPOULOS
Metro World News

Keeping up with the many seasons of various singing competitions is a tall task (you have to commit two nights of your TV-watching week, and once you find a contestant to root for, he or she could be gone the next week) — but when The Voice came back late last month for its fourth season, there were a few familiar faces along with the new ones.

Veteran judges Adam Levine and Blake Shelton welcomed newbies Shakira and Usher to the judges table, but there was also a mix of old and new amongst the contestants during the premiere's blind auditions.

Contestant Garett Gardner says he didn't let previous seasons' disappointment stand in the way of auditioning again.

"I took into account what, in particular, Blake had told me — because he was really the one who gave me some really harsh but much-needed constructive criticism," says the 17-year-old singer, who wowed Shakira enough with his version of the White Stripes' Seven Nation Army to make it onto her team.

Holly Tucker is also no stranger to The Voice. The Texan, who made it onto Blake's team, auditioned for season one of the competition. Tucker says she values that the judges couldn't see her while she sang.

"I've been judged in the past and it's something that you just have to get a thick skin and learn to deal with — which is what I think I've done over the past years," she says.

Beer. Brewery Ommegang, HBO's Iron Throne $8.50

The Game Of Thrones beer is here just in time for season three of the HBO series. Staff at Metro New York got a sample — here's their take.

Marketing description
"With a Lannister currently on the throne, it made sense to do a delicate, but piercing Golden Blonde Ale with Noble hops. Iron Throne is certainly fair in color and soft in appearance, yet it still possesses a complexity and bite to be on guard for."

Metro staff description
This beer is as "velvety as the royal capes in Game of Thrones" and even got props from one non-beer drinker noting they can "actually drink this without cringing." Some thought the partnership with HBO was "weird" but the "tasty" blonde ale is "crisp" and "like a girl beer a guy won't be embarrassed to drink." Although one did wonder, "Is this just Blue Moon in a fancy bottle?" METRO

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

The Word

Kristen Stewart crashes a little kid's party — sort of

Dorothy Robinson
scene@metronews.ca

Look. I know the members of Hanson are old and they have, like, 23 kids between them (even the baby drummer has procreated — twice).

I've interviewed them several times and the voice on the other end wasn't prepubescent (they are also supersensitive to people thinking they are teenagers, something I learned the hard way when I squealed, "You are so grown up!" to them.)

I've even listened to their later albums. What I'm saying is: I know they are old and capable of partying.

But when I read on E! News that Kristen Stewart decided to celebrate her 23rd birthday by crashing a record release party for the band at L.A. nightspot No Vacancy, my first thought was, "What is KStew doing with a bunch of eight-year-olds?"

Apparently, if you broke out as a little person, I will always consider you a little person (don't get me started on Lil' Bow Wow.)

Anyway, according to E!, the birthday girl arrived around 11 p.m. with Robert Pattinson and about 10 friends in tow, though it was unclear if they knew ahead of time about the band's party.

"They weren't overly affectionate or anything, but at points they were standing together as they talked to friends," a source says of Stewart and Pattinson.

And then Hanson played pin-the-tail on the donkey, ate confetti cake and all three had temper tantrums when they were told it was bedtime. I'm so sorry, Hanson. Next interview we do together, impress me with your 401K plan and maybe I'll wrap my head around the fact of your aging.

Have they or have they not broken up already?

Reports that Rihanna and Chris Brown have broken up might not exactly be accurate, but that doesn't mean the couple is happy, according to Us Weekly.

A source tells the magazine that while the pair hasn't actually split up, they are fighting all the time.

"Every second it's a blow-up and then full-on in love," the source says. "She's touring and working her ass off, and he's working his off in the studio," and those busy schedules are adding to the stress.

Rihanna is even using work to vent some of her frustrations, asking an audience at an L.A. concert this week, "How many of you are in love? How many of you hate love? ... I'm in that group. The confused group."

Liquid Assets

The wrap on Pinot grigio

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy

Much like a human union, when it comes to food and wine, the bride often comes with an entourage that can't be ignored.

Big holiday meals are a classic example. Though the turkey might be the star of the show, every side dish puts its two cents worth into how successful the outcome of the liquid pairing will be.

Wraps create an everyday conundrum. They're sort of like an elaborate meal rolled into one conveniently edible package.

This week's lead recipe combines smoked salmon (that works with many wines, from a pinot noir red to a white, german off-dry riesling), creamy avocado (a chardonnay fan) and capers (which prefer a rosé).

The trick is to find a harmonious middle ground, and with this dish, all roads lead to pinot grigio. Typically a light, lean, easy-going style of white wine, it meets many ingredients halfway. With its subtle honeyed flavour and citrusy backbone, Mezzacorona's 2012 Pinot Grigio ($11.95 to $15.99) has a bit more heft than the average PG, making it a versatile wrap wine.

PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

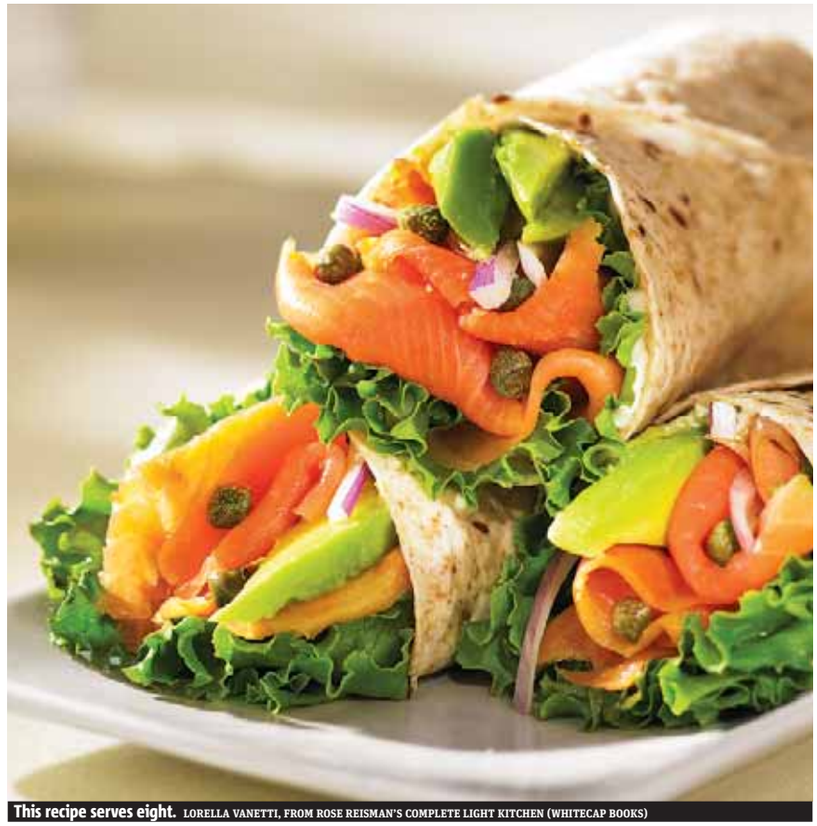
My version of a lox and cream cheese sandwich has fewer calories, less fat, and more interesting and tasty ingredients! The light ricotta and cream cheese combination is the key substitute for regular cream cheese.

Ingredients

- 1/3 cup smooth light ricotta
- 2 tbsp light cream cheese
- 1/3 cup goat cheese
- 2 tbsp light mayonnaise
- 2 tsp freshly squeezed lemon juice
- 1 tsp Dijon mustard
- 1/2 tsp crushed fresh garlic
- pinch freshly ground black pepper
- 4 large tortillas (preferably whole wheat)
- 4 pieces leafy lettuce
- 4 oz smoked salmon, diced
- 1/2 cup diced red onion
- 1/2 cup diced ripe avocado
- 1 tbsp capers



This recipe serves eight. LORELLA VANETTI, FROM ROSE REISMAN'S COMPLETE LIGHT KITCHEN (WHITECAP BOOKS)

1. Purée the ricotta, cream cheese, goat cheese, mayonnaise, lemon juice, mustard, garlic and pepper in a small food processor, or with a hand beater, until smooth.

2. Divide the cheese mixture among the tortillas, spreading it to 1/4 inch from the edges. Place the lettuce overtop.

3. Scatter the salmon, onion, avocado and capers over the lettuce. Roll the bottom of each tortilla up and over the filling, fold in the sides and roll the tortilla up tightly. Cut in half before serving.

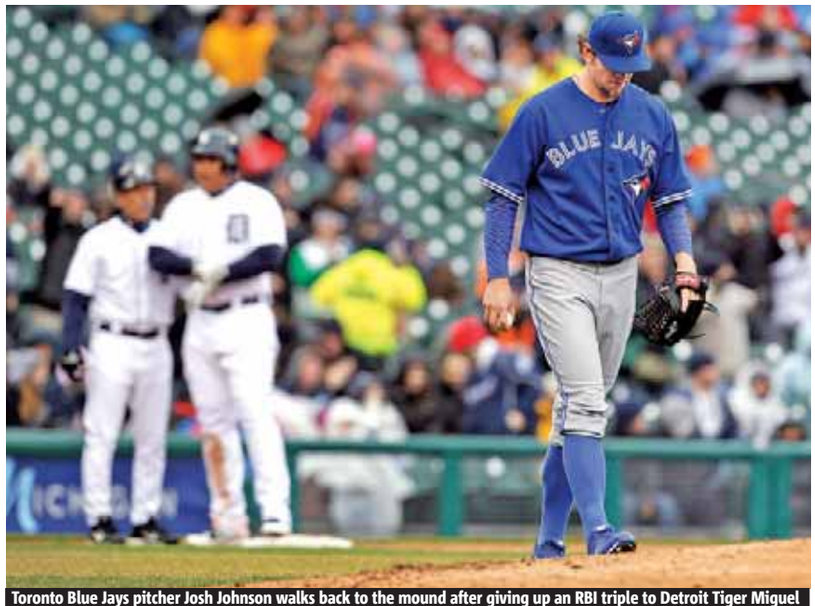
Tigers jump all over Jays starter Johnson

MLB. New Toronto pitcher surrenders six runs in the shortest start of his career



Toronto Blue Jays pitcher Josh Johnson walks back to the mound after giving up an RBI triple to Detroit Tiger Miguel Cabrera in Detroit on Thursday. PAUL SANCYA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto right-hander was knocked out of the game in the second inning Thursday — the latest poor start by a Blue Jays pitcher — and the Detroit Tigers rolled to an 11-1 win at chilly Comerica Park.

Miguel Cabrera tripled, scored twice and even stole a base for the Tigers, and Doug Fister (2-0) allowed a run and eight hits in eight innings.

Johnson (0-1) allowed six runs and seven hits in 1 1/3 innings — the shortest start of his career.

"I haven't thrown a slider for a strike yet, and I need that pitch. When I'm throwing it for strikes, it is something that the hitters have to think about, but this is two starts now, and it hasn't happened," Johnson said. "I didn't have anything today. They were all over my curveball for some reason, and the fastball was just hanging over the plate."

Prince Fielder had four RBIs and Torii Hunter added three for the Tigers.

The temperature at game time was 2 C, the coldest for a Detroit home game since 1996, according to STATS.

"It certainly was uncomfortable pitching out there today, but look what the other guy did," Johnson said.

The Blue Jays have not lived up to early expectations because of poor pitching. Their starters are now 1-4 with a 7.59 ERA.

Toronto, a chic pick to win the AL East after acquiring Johnson, Jose Reyes and R.A. Dickey in the off-season, has lost three straight series to start the year for the first time since 1978. The Blue Jays lost four straight series to start that season. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Golf. Garcia enjoys lead at Masters 'while it lasts'

Sergio Garcia GETTY IMAGES

Sergio Garcia is still chasing that first major title.

It never figured to come at Augusta National.

But there he was Thursday, after a bogey-free opening round, sharing the top spot on the leaderboard at the Masters.

"Obviously, this is not my most favourite place," Garcia said, trying to be diplomatic. "But we try to enjoy it as much as we can every time we come here. Sometimes it comes out better than others. Today was one of those good days. Let's enjoy it while it lasts."

Garcia's 6-under 66 tied him with Aussie Marc Leishman on a cloudy day that was made for going low. The Spaniard took advantage, rekindling memories of the teen phenom who seemed certain to win numerous major titles after he battled with Tiger Woods at the 1999 PGA Championship, losing by a single stroke.

Garcia has challenged in other majors, but rarely at the Masters — a course that doesn't seem to fit his style or shaky putter. In 14 appearances at Augusta National, he has finished in the top 10 only twice.

This year, Woods is still the favourite after opening with a 70. But it appears he'll have a lot of competition.

"I felt like I putted well today," said Woods, whose only lower opening-round score at Augusta was a 68 in 2010. "We've got a long way to go.... The golf course is going to change dramatically. You've just got to make adjustments." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Cubs found a severed goat's head at Wrigley Field on Wednesday, and they're treating the reference to a longtime curse as a crime.

Chicago police were called in to investigate after a man stopped the white van he was driving, walked a box to a security entrance on Waveland Avenue and put it down, Cubs spokesman Julian Green said.

"Obviously, it's just an unfortunate fan doing something pretty stupid," Cubs manager Dale Sveum said.

In 1945, a tavern owner named William "Billy Goat" Sianis tried to bring a goat to a World Series game, but was told his goat — which had a ticket — smelled too much to be admitted. Sianis angrily put a curse on the team and since then, the Cubs haven't been back to the World Series. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kadri playing for potential big payday

NHL. Buds have options in how to deal with restricted free agent

Nazem Kadri is arguably the Maple Leafs' highest priority this off-season when it comes to contracts. GETTY IMAGES FILE

This Saturday night the Maple Leafs play the Canadiens, potential first-round playoff foes, an ancient hockey rivalry with a welcome new twist.

This should be the kind of stage the Leafs' Nazem Kadri thrives on.

But Kadri is playing for much more than rivalry and glory as he is arguably the highest priority off-season contract, an opportunity for the Leafs to sew up a true hometown hero. Or not.

While Kadri leads the Leafs in scoring with Phil Kessel, and is helping to deliver the franchise's first playoff berth in seven seasons, there is the potential for a hardball type scenario in off-season negotiations.

Kadri's contract is one of two prime RFA contracts that Leafs GM Dave Nonis must deal with this summer; the other is Joe Colborne.

The problem for Kadri is his age. While he has prospered under some tough love from the organization, the fact he is coming out of an entry-level deal that pays him $1.7 million U.S. this season (with bonuses) and into his first contract could alter the way the Leafs deal with him.

With Montreal in town on Saturday night, Kadri can look at Carey Price and P.K. Subban as examples of the so-called "bridge" contracts given to star players of his status and age bracket. Subban, after tense negotiations during training camp, settled on a two-year, $5.5-million deal.

While the Leafs may play hardball with him and reward him on a later extension, the team may also adopt Edmonton's handsome payoff philosophy.

That saw two young stars — Taylor Hall and Jordan Eberle — sign extension of seven years, $42 million, and six years, $36 million, respectively last August.

Valanciunas, Ross worse for wear at Raptors practice

This whole notion of extended minutes over the final week of the regular season for Raptors rookies is taking a bit of a hit.

Jonas Valanciunas missed practice on Thursday to have his sore neck examined by doctors and Terrence Ross limped out of the Air Canada Centre practice facility with a huge ice bag on his left ankle.

Both are being termed as "game-time decisions" for Friday's home game against the Chicago Bulls and if they can't go, it puts a damper on head coach Dwane Casey's desire to let them get more minutes than usual as the season winds down. The good news is that neither injury seems overly serious.

Ross could probably benefit from more court time in the final four games of the season. His play has been spotty in the second half of the regular season, and needs more time to find consistency.

"We had a good-spirited practice and he tweaked it," Casey said of Ross. "I don't know how serious it is but he tweaked his ankle a little bit. I don't think it's anything serious." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

THE HOCKEY NEWS
Adam Proteau
toronto@metronews.ca

The Leafs' playoff success could hinge on the intensity of forward Phil Kessel.
NATHAN DENETTE/THE CANADIAN PRESS

No, you're not dreaming. Barring an abject disaster, the Maple Leafs are going to make the playoffs for the first time in nine years. They haven't always won in the prettiest or most dominant of ways, but who cares, right? Toronto is going to be in the post-season and for long-suffering Leafs fans, the rest is just (blue and) white noise. But let's get greedy for a second and look at the things that need to happen for the Buds to enjoy a long playoff run.

1. Good health. Look at the L.A. Kings, last season's Stanley Cup champions: they had essentially the same lineup at the start of the 2012 playoffs as they did at the end of them. It's true no team can prevent its players from getting hurt, but it's just as true that having great fortune when it comes to roster consistency is a godsend in the post-season.

2. Solid even-strength play. While some people will point to Toronto's vastly-improved penalty kill, not enough attention is paid to the turnaround the Leafs have enjoyed in 5-on-5 play. Last season they were fifth-worst in the league with an 0.86 goals-for/against ratio at even strength, but this season, they're 10th overall at 1.08. If, as many have rightfully come to expect, the officials put their whistles away in the playoffs, the Leafs' proficiency in the 5-on-5-play department should pay dividends.

3. Increased number of shots per game. Right now, Toronto sits 25th overall in the NHL in shots-for. The five teams below them all are currently out of a post-season spot. When the playoffs begin and every puck to the net matters far more than they do in the regular season, the Leafs will need to get themselves around the legion of shot-blockers and do a better job of wearing out the opposition goalie.

4. The Next Level For Phil Kessel. Is Kessel unfairly ripped on a regular basis by those who don't see the little things he can bring on the ice? Yes, without a doubt. That said, Kessel must prove he can ratchet up his intensity in the post-season in a way he couldn't when he was a young Boston Bruin. If he disappears, it's more than likely the Leafs will as well.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
If someone questions your motives or authority today, you must make it clear to them that you are the boss and you will do as you please. Say it nicely, of course, but make sure they know that you mean it.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Certain people seem to believe you exist solely to look out for their interests. Now is the time to remind them you have needs of your own and that they must come first — always.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
You may want to explain your actions to loved ones, though chances are they won't understand so why waste the time. Do what you have to do and let them figure it out.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
What is the one thing you desire above all? Is there a chance you will get it soon? If not, don't give up. Make your plans then take a step in the right direction and keep going.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
The planets will have you rushing around in all directions today. One moment you'll be going this way, the next you'll be going that way, and half an hour later it will be all change again. Time for a vacation.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
Why have you allowed your fears to get the better of you? Whatever your problems, you are exaggerating them to such an extent that it is stopping you from taking action. Believe that things will get better.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
It's not like you to get upset over trivial things but you have allowed minor everyday matters to get under your skin. Don't worry, over the weekend you'll find reasons to smile.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
What is destined to happen will happen. The sooner you accept that, the sooner you can start turning events to your advantage. Don't dread the future, welcome it.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
Pluto begins one of its retrograde phases today, which warns of confusion in your dealings with powerful people. It may seem as if they are being unreasonable but be patient. Everything will be OK.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
Whatever you decide to do today, someone is sure to be unhappy about it. But that must not stop you from taking whatever action you think is correct. Remember: You cannot please everyone.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
You will clash with someone whose way of looking at the world is very different from your own, on the surface at least. Dig a little deeper and you may find you are alike.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
A friend will do something today that you find hard to understand. It may seem as if they are acting irresponsibly but you could also be expecting too much.
